Compared: live page www.mintassetmanagement.com/promo/2026/year-end/paps (published 6 Oct 2026, 13:50 UTC) against its earlier version (published 28 Sep 2026).

Scope: text edits only; the structure and layout are unchanged.

Not yet applied to the test page paps-clean.

How to read the marked text: ~~struck-through~~ words were removed, bold words were added.

1. Hero heading

1. Before:

Complimentary: Year-End & 2027 Investment Strategy ~~Session~~

2. After:

Complimentary: Year-End & 2027 Investment Strategy Conversation with Bryan Perry

2. Letter, paragraph beginning "I've watched enough cycles"

1. Before:

I've watched enough cycles like this one to have a view on what tends to come next. On our call, I'll give you my opinion on which sectors may still have ~~room-to-run~~, where I think risk is building, and where I see ~~the-next-wave-of~~ opportunities ~~taking-shape~~. My professional read is that distinct clusters of ~~companies~~, AI, space, finance, defense, cybersecurity — could separate from the pack, some to the upside and some to the downside. Geopolitics, the rate path, competitive pressure and a handful of genuine disruptors can sort the ~~strong~~ from the ~~weak-in-a-hurry~~. (No single ~~investment~~ recommendation suits everyone, each investor has ~~his/her-own~~ unique set of ~~viewpoints~~ and goals.)

2. After:

I've watched enough cycles like this one to have a view on what tends to come next. On our call, I'll give you my opinion on which sectors may still have potential, where I think risk is building, and where I see opportunities developing. My professional read is that distinct clusters of companies — AI, space, finance, defense, cybersecurity — could separate from the pack, some to the upside and some to the downside. Geopolitics, the interest rate path, competitive pressure and a handful of genuine disruptors can sort the stronger companies from the weaker ones. (No single recommendation suits everyone, each investor has a unique set of circumstances and goals.)

3. Paragraph beginning "Most of the people I talk with"

1. Before:

Most of the people I talk with are sharp investors. They've ~~done-well~~ for years. For some, that works fine ~~right-up~~ until the number of moving parts outgrows the hours anyone has to research and track them. At the moment, AI, inflation, tariffs, energy policy and geopolitics all seem to be sending different signals at once.

2. After:

Most of the people I talk with are sharp investors. They've often managed money for years. For some, that works fine until the number of moving parts outgrows the hours anyone has to research and track them. At the moment, AI, inflation, tariffs, energy policy and geopolitics all seem to be sending different signals at once.

4. Paragraph beginning "That's usually when"

1. Before:

That's usually when the questions change. Not "what's the next trade," but: "Is this portfolio still balanced, or has it drifted? Is it built to meet my income and growth objectives, or ~~did it quietly become something else?~~"

2. After:

That's usually when the questions change. Not "what's the next trade," but: "Is this portfolio still balanced, or has it drifted? Is it built to meet my income and growth objectives, or has it changed over time?"

5. Callout box

1. Before:

The next several months could look quite different from the ones behind us.

2. After:

The next several months could look different from the ones behind us.

6. Paragraph beginning "I don't know your situation"

1. Before:

I don't know your situation. But whether you're working with a couple of hundred thousand dollars or millions, if you are interested in thinking through the opportunities and the risks tied to AI, inflation, tariffs, energy policy and geopolitics, you may want to hear how we manage growth and income portfolios. We strive to structure them to balance long-term growth against income, measured against what you are actually trying to accomplish. ~~No~~ approach removes risk, and the right mix really does depend on ~~your circumstances.~~

2. After:

I don't know your situation. But whether you're working with a couple of hundred thousand dollars or many millions, if you are interested in thinking through the opportunities and the risks tied to AI, inflation, tariffs, energy policy and geopolitics, you may want to hear how we manage growth and income portfolios. We strive to structure them to balance long-term growth against income, measured against what you are actually trying to accomplish. (No approach removes risk, and the right mix does depend on one's circumstances.)

7. Closing section (heading and two paragraphs)

7.1. Heading

1. Before:

Does your portfolio need a second opinion for Year-End and 2027?

2. After:

Complimentary: A Year-End & 2027 Investment Strategy Conversation with Bryan Perry

7.2. Paragraph

1. Before:

This strikes me as a natural moment to look hard at your allocations. That might mean leaving them where they are through year-end and beyond. It might mean shifting the balance between income and growth. Which one depends entirely on your circumstances, and this session is designed as a personalized conversation.

2. After:

Year-end strikes me as an appropriate time to discuss market conditions and investment strategies. That might mean leaving them where they are through year-end and beyond or not. It might mean shifting the balance between income and growth. Which one depends entirely on your circumstances, and this complimentary conversation with me could help widen your perspective.

3. Hint (grammar/clarity): "leaving them where they are through year-end and beyond or not" has no clear noun for "them", because the earlier sentence about "allocations" was removed. "beyond or not" also reads awkwardly. Consider: "That might mean leaving your allocations where they are through year-end and beyond, or it might not."

7.3. Sign-up paragraph

1. Before:

Sign-up now for a private, no-obligation, complimentary Year-End & 2027 Investment Session.

2. After:

If you'd like to chat with me, you can request a complimentary, no-obligation Year-End & 2027 Investment Strategy Conversation below. Either my associate or I will connect with you to determine the time most convenient for you and me to chat.

8. P.S. paragraph removed

1. Removed text:

P.S. As a Registered Investment Adviser, our firm is a fiduciary, which means we are legally obligated to act in our clients' best interest. We do better when our clients do better.

9. Form intro (right-hand "Request Your Complimentary Session" box)

1. Before:

YES! I want a complimentary and confidential Year-End & 2027 Investment ~~session~~ with Bryan ~~Perry to help prepare me for the next few months and beyond.~~

2. After:

YES! I want a complimentary and confidential Year-End & 2027 Investment strategy conversation with Bryan Perry.

3. Hint (spelling): "stratagy" should be "strategy". This is the only obvious spelling mistake I found in the new text.

10. Consent text under the form fields

1. Before:

I agree to receive communications from Mint Asset Management. By providing a telephone number and submitting the form, you are consenting to be contacted by SMS text message. Message & data rates may apply. Reply STOP to opt out of further messaging.

2. After:

I agree to receive communications from Mint Asset Management. By providing a telephone number and submitting the form, you are consenting to be contacted by phone and SMS text message. Message & data rates may apply. Reply STOP to opt out of further messaging.

11. Disclosures section

1. Wording changed to "communication" (4 times from "publication", once from "presentation"):

1. "This ~~publication~~ communication is for informational purposes only..."
2. "...as of the date of this ~~publication~~ communication and are subject to change..."
3. "...information contained in this ~~publication~~ communication or otherwise..."
4. "...reflect our judgment only as of the date this ~~publication~~ communication was published."
5. "(including any discussed in this ~~presentation~~ communication)" (this one was "presentation")

2. Grammar fixes:

1. "should not ~~to~~ be construed as a solicitation..." now reads "should not be construed as a solicitation...".
2. "the value of the ~~fixed income~~ fixed-income securities" (hyphen added).

3. New sentences added:

Requesting or attending a complimentary session does not create an investment advisory relationship with Mint, and Mint will not provide individualized investment advice or implement any recommendation on your behalf unless and until you enter into a written investment advisory agreement with Mint.

Mint's Form ADV Part 2A will be provided before or at the time you enter into any such agreement.

Investments in specific sectors or themes, including artificial intelligence, space, defense, and cybersecurity, may be subject to heightened volatility, concentration risk, valuation risk, rapid technological change, and regulatory risk, and are not suitable for all investors.

Eagle Publishing is not an investment advisory client of Mint, does not recommend or endorse Mint, and is paid for advertising placement rather than for referrals.

4. One sentence rewritten:

1. Before:

~~On occasion, Mint will compensate Eagle Publishing to advertise Mint's investment advisory services to Eagle Publishing's newsletter subscribers.~~

2. After:

Mint compensates Eagle Publishing to advertise Mint's investment advisory services to Eagle Publishing's newsletter subscribers, including this advertisement.

5. Spacing and punctuation:

1. "Newsletter Publishers") Newsletters authored by Mr. Perry..." now reads "Newsletter Publishers"). Newsletters authored by Mr. Perry..." (a full stop was added).
2. "marketing efforts.~~No~~" now has a space: "marketing efforts. No graph, chart, formula...".
6. Paragraph structure: the "Dividend payments are not guaranteed..." text, which used to be its own paragraph, now continues the "It should not be assumed..." paragraph. That is why two line breaks disappeared.
7. Hint (consistency, already in the old text): the section uses "registered investment advisor" (Newsletter Publishers sentence) next to "advisory" and "adviserinfo.sec.gov". The SEC spells the term "adviser". Consider "registered investment adviser" to match the SEC site.
8. Hint (grammar, already in the old text): "Any questions concerning the newsletters, subscriptions, including any newsletter advertising..." reads awkwardly. Consider "Any questions concerning the newsletters or their subscriptions, including any newsletter advertising...".
9. Hint (style, optional): "Fixed-income securities (i.e., bonds)" would usually be "(e.g., bonds)" because bonds are one example, not the whole category.
